

November 15, 2006

I feel very lucky to have an opportunity to write on behalf of Sharon Ashburn. In compiling my thoughts, I didn't know where to begin. I asked my husband what he liked best about Sharon's style of cooking. His comment was "her variety". I would have to agree. Whenever we have had Sharon prepare her fabulous evenings, they are always different and delicious. Sharon tries new things but she also takes into consideration the group she will be serving. She always works very hard and is extremely organized. She arrives and quietly goes to work. The presentation is always lovely and she put a lot of herself into her work. One time she brought her own antique bowls to serve her wonderful soup.

Sharon has also become my friend but when she is working on a dinner, she is warm and friendly but she does not forget her work. She is always professional and takes her job very seriously. After the wonderful dinner is over, the kitchen is left immaculate, all of her things are gone, she has left quietly and the only thing that you hear is the hum of your dishwasher. Words cannot tell you what a fantastic evening you will experience when Sharon works her kitchen magic. You will just have to try her and see for yourself. You will love every bite!

Susan Wilson
Clark, CO